Dear Parent Carer

Happy Half Term

I write to remind parents that tomorrow (Friday, 25 October) is a PD day and therefore students are not required in school; following next week's half term break all students will return back to school on Monday, 4 November 2024.

Just a quick note to thank all students, parents and staff for their support over the last 8 weeks. It has been a very busy half term with a significant number of events taking place, which will be captured through our OWS Journal which will follow shortly.

As always, we will be using the half term period to review progress made across the school and actions taken which support all students to maximise their progress, while maintaining our high standards across all aspects of school life. One area of focus at the start of the year was uniform; we were extremely pleased with the positive response from all families with regards to expectations at the start of the academic year. A further reminder that all uniform requirements are outlined on the school website should any updates be required over the half term break (Uniform | Oldbury Wells).

We have also been focused on ensuring that students have the correct equipment in school, again there is an overview of everything required, alongside what is available from school, to ensure that students have everything they need (School Shop | Oldbury Wells).

We have another busy half term coming up and we are looking forward to the further opportunities the weeks ahead will provide for all those across our community. I hope that everyone has a restful half term and enjoy a well-deserved break and we look forward to welcoming everyone back for the second half of the autumn term.....Happy Half Term!!

Yours faithfully
